History

One bright morning in August of 1947, twenty-eight frightened freshmen entered Hillsboro High School. We were honored as the smallest class in history of H.H.S. The officers for our first year were as follows: Billie Sue Allen, President; Lillian Mabry, Vice President; Deanie Joyce, Secretary and Ruby King, Treasurer. One of our social whirls was a picnic at Centennial Park. Our class sponsor was Mrs. B. E. Johnson.

In the fall of '48, our class had decreased to twenty-two. Class officers for the year were: Ailene Daugherty, President; Joe Denton, Vice President; Deanie Joyce, Secretary; Ann Thorton, Treasurer and Alice Raye Lunn, Reporter. A highlight of our year was a wiener roast and hay ride. Miss Corrine Jones was our sponsor for the year.

In our Junior year, with eighteen members in our class, we elected the following officers: Ailene Daugherty, President; Christine King, Vice President; Charlene Goodwin, Secretary and Horace Fisher, Treasurer. We sold candy, drinks, pencils and car tags in order to raise money for the Junior-Senior Banquet — a special event, which was held at the Red Grill in Franklin. The theme of the banquet was "Wishing Wells." Our sponsors were: Miss Corrine Jones and Mr. Bobby Gentry.

Now that we are Dignified Seniors, our class has only seventeen members. Our officers are Ailene Daugherty, President; Marie Bradford, Vice President and Mary Faye Green, Secretary-Treasurer. There are three cheerleaders: Ann, Alice Raye and Marie, and seven basketball players: Ailene, Mary Faye, Pearlene, Ordenella, Horace, Norman and Marion, from our small class. All the events made possible by students and faculty have been greatly enjoyed.

Nearing the end of our Senior year, we wish to thank our sponsor, Miss Tuck, who has been a great help to us, not only as our sponsor, but as a wonderful teacher. We also extend our gratitude to Miss Jones, sponsor of our class for two years — making those two years a pleasure for all. Many thanks to the Junior Class for the beautiful banquet, given in our honor. To the other faculty members — though we have not worked directly with you — we want you to know that you have made great impressions that will remain with us the rest of our lives.

Best Wishes — Locke's Service Station — East Main Street, Franklin, Tennessee

Senior Class Will

We, the Senior Class of 1951, being of sound mind and body, and preparing to graduate into the next life, do hereby and hereafter declare this to be our last will and testament.

I, Norman Fisher, do hereby will my ability to skip school to Wayne Anderson.

I, Horace Fisher, do hereby will my ability to play ball to Horace Anderson.

We, Marie Bradford and Ann Thornton, do hereby will our cheerleading talents to Shirley Sullivan and Wesley Daugherty.

I, Pearlene Rainey, do hereby leave to Alice Lankford my "know how" in basketball.

I, Mary Faye Green, do hereby will my ability for reading shorthand to Mary Ann Fox.

I, Charlene Goodwin, do hereby will my pleasant smile to Irene Yates.

I, Alice Ray Lunn, do hereby will my love for pretty clothes to Martha Beard.

I, Houston Henry, do hereby will my ability for studying to James McGaw.

I, Cleola Wright, do hereby leave my shyness to Loyd Locke.

For the benefit of classes next year, I, Marion Robinson, do hereby will my dimples and smiles to Paul Beard.

I, Joe Denton, do hereby will my art talent to Larry Moore.

I, Christine King, do hereby will my good grades to "Knucklehead" Hassell.

I, Ordenella Jones, do hereby will my shorthand and typewriting books to whoever will accept them. Sue, are you interested?

I, Ailene Daugherty, do hereby will my friendliness and ability to get along with people to Doris Walker.

I, Edwin Bradford, do hereby will my nickname "Shortie" to Bobby Peach.

I, R. W. Harris, do hereby will my quiet personality to Clyde Sullivan.

Drawn up, sealed and signed this twenty-seventh day of October, One Thousand Nine Hundred and Fifty.

Prophecy

As I stood on the shore and watched the tide recede, taking with it the ship HHS'51, I wondered where in the land of duty each of its passengers would embark.

The years drifted slowly by, and these travelers have found their rightful places in our busy world of "1965."

First we see Edwin Bradford, who is now coaching Cook's Goldbloom Basketball Team in the great city of Hillsboro. He was accompanied by his dear wife, Kathleen Fisher.

Then we spot Charlene Goodwin working as a secretary for the National Life and Accident Insurance Company in the city of Fairview. She has held the position for a number of years, since she left Nashville Business College.

Next we see Mary Faye Green descending from the HHS'51. She has just returned from Europe, where she has been serving as reporter for the Look magazine. Mary Faye reports that while in Europe, she visited Cleola Wright, the happy widow of a multi-millionaire, who invented over a thousand labor saving devices, which are a blessing to humanity.

The city of Craigfield has been enriched by the veterinarian, Horace Fisher, who is famous for his skill in curing bunions and is an expert at reviving dead animals.

Now we see Mrs. Martin Pennygrass, the former Ailene Daugherty, who is just returning from a trip around the world. She is always accompanied by her maid, Martha Beard, who tends to Junior, the one and only — so far.

As we glance in Franklin's largest Department Store, we see a streamlined model, Alice Raye Lunn, now modeling a very expensive dinner gown.

A well-known artist, Joe Denton, is now cartooning and drawing for The Boston Times. R. W. Harris is a reporter for the same paper, and accompanying him is his lovely wife, Thelma Harrison.

The musical profession claims two of the passengers. Marie Bradford and Christine King, "The Old Maid Metropolitan Dancing Yodelers," have just returned from Hollywood where they entertained a tremendous audience of ten.

When the Ringling Brothers' Circus was in Nashville, Mrs. Horace Anderson, the former Ann Thornton, who is the fattest woman in the world, was wearing a French bathing suit and reports she is trying to reduce to 400 pounds. Losing a few pounds, of course, may cost her her job.

Ordenella Jones is working with the circus as a flying trapeze girl. She performs each season before the admiring eyes of millions.

As our eyes wander farther away, we see Pearlene Rainey playing basketball with the Memphis Business College team, which has lost 21 games but is still hopeful.

We now see Houston Henry running a big dairy farm in the suburbs of Hillsboro. He doesn't have to buy electric milking machines, because his healthy 13 children perform that task. His wife, Elaine Harris, is an excellent cook and spends most of her time preparing delicious meals for her family.

Looking across the ocean, we see Marion Robinson who has just broken the world's record in swimming the English Channel. Marion says he never would have made it if it hadn't been for the physical exercise he received at Hillsboro High School doing janitorial work.

Now last, but not least, we see Norman Fisher, the candidate for President of the United States. He is busy making campaign speeches, giving away cigars, and kissing babies. His wife, Ann Smith, is already making plans for remodeling the White House.

Some Mouth

Ailene and Ann who had not seen each other for a long time met on the street.

"Oh! Ailene," Ann excitedly exclaimed, "I've had a lot happen to me since I saw you last. I had my teeth out and an electric stove and refrigerator put in!"

Dry Cleaning

Pearlene: "You look all out of sorts.. What's the matter?"

Marie: "Plenty. On account of my rheumatism the doctor told me to avoid all dampness - and you have no idea how silly I feel sitting in an empty bathtub and going over myself with a vacuum cleaner."

Movies Progress

Joe and Horace had just left a theater, and judging from their expressions, the picture must have been a poor one.

"It certainly is wonderful how the movies have progressed," said Horace.

"How do you mean?" asked Joe.

"Well, first there were silent pictures, then came the talkies, and now this one smells!"

He'll Catch Something

Norman, who, instead of going to school had gone fishing, on his way home met George Lamp-ley. Seeing that Norman was carrying a fishing line, George asked, "Catch anything?"

"No," replied Norman, "I hain't been home yet."

In Full Bloom

Sue was visiting her grandmother in the country. Walking in the garden, she chanced to see a peacock, a bird she had never seen before. After gazing in silent admiration, she quickly ran into the house and cried out! "Oh, Granny, come and see! One of your chickens is in bloom!"

Selfish Courtesy

Standing in a crowded street car, Christine was trying to find a token for carfare. All her pockets had been tightly buttoned as a precaution against pickpockets, and no little commotion resulted.

"Please, let me pay your fare," said Houston beside her.

"Nothing of the kind," she replied continuing the search. "I've got the fare here some place."

"I'm sure of it," said Houston, "but I'd like to pay your fare. You've unbuttoned my suspenders three times already."

Answer

Mr. Stasaski was explaining to the class that a number of sheep is called a flock and a small number of quail is called a bevy. "Now, Mary Faye, what is a number of camels called?"

Mary Faye quickly answered: "A carton."

Dog Talk

Horace: Do you know what one dog said to another?

Wilma: No, what did it say?

Horace: Nothing, dogs can't talk!

Beginner's Luck
 Ordenella: It took eight sittings.
 Alice Raye: What? Have you been having a portrait painted?
 Ordenella: No, learning to skate.

Brake It Up
 Cleola and Elaine on a tandem bike at last got to the top of a steep hill. "That was a stiff climb," said Elaine.
 "It sure was," Cleola replied, "and if I hadn't kept the brake on we would have gone backward for sure."

Telephone Conversation
 Virginia: How do you feel this morning?
 Shirley: Fine.
 Virginia: I guess I have the wrong number.

Charlene approached Miss Tuck as the other students were leaving for home.
 "Please, Miss Tuck," she inquired earnestly, "what did I learn today? My daddy always wants to know."

Kathleen to Betty Sue: The trouble with coming to school on time is that it makes the day so long!"

Miss Jones: Some men thirst after fame, some after love, and some after money.
 Leroy: I know something they all thirst after.
 Miss Jones: And what is that?
 Leroy: Salted peanuts.

Mrs. Allen: For goodness sake, you ask a lot of questions. I'd like to know what would have happened if I had asked so many questions when I was a girl.
 Ann Mills: Maybe you'd be able to answer some of mine.

Clyde was late for typing class, and Miss Tuck was upset. Turning she said: "You should have been here at nine!"
 "Why," Clyde asked, "What happened?"

Alice to Georgia Mai: I like the outdoor type of fellow - the kind who has a nice convertible.

Mr. Thomas was explaining to his science students how some materials will expand when hot and contract when cold.
 "Could any of you," he asked, "think of anything else that does the same?"
 "Sure," offered one student, "the days! In summer, when it's hot, they get longer; in the winter, it's cold, and they get shorter."

"Suppose that you are swimming with a friend, and waves wash her far from shore," said Mr. Bratton. "What would you do to save her life?"
 "Throw her a cake of soap," said Knucklehead, "to wash her back."
