Class History

We have now reached an epoch in the memorable year of 1952, when our class graduates from Hillsboro High. Our high school work is completed, the course finished and we face the future with a confidence based upon the knowledge we have acquired and the ideals we have formed. But before we go forth, let us take a glimpse backward and visualize a bit of the four busy happy years we have spent here.

In the fall of 1948 we entered Hillsboro High as sixty-five. We were often baffled by our new work but never discouraged, and we soon found ourselves in the full swing of our class work.

The Sophomore year was much easier with less embarrassment and greater success. Although our number decreased from sixty-five to fifty, we who remained were even more determined to finish our work. Our Sophomore officers were: Wesley Daugherty, President; Jim Norvell, Vice President; Jean Owens, Secretary; and Doris Boone, Treasurer. Miss Arvelee Tuck was our sponsor.

During our Junior year the Seniors of 1951 were entertained at the annual formal banquet which, in our opinion, was the most beautiful and successful banquet to be held by the Juniors of H. H. S. Our officers for this successful year were: Wesley Daugherty, President; Jane Mills, Vice President; Mary Ann Fox, Treasurer; and Mary Elizabeth Lunn, Secretary. We were sponsored by Miss Corinne Jones.

Of course, our Senior year has been one of triumph, for we are nearing our goal with a good record behind. Elbert Moore, President; Wesley Daugherty, Vice President; Doris Boone, Secretary; and Elise Stinson, Treasurer; have proved to be very worthy officers and Miss Corinne Jones, our sponsor, a very inspiring person.

Regretfully, we thirty-three Seniors must bid you adieu, our teachers and our schoolmates, and begin with other work beset with new problems. Memory will serve us well, and we shall often think of you and these happy school days. May we—today, tomorrow, and forever—recall these four eventful years at Hillsboro High; and may we face the future in the triumphant spirit that Hillsboro High has bequeathed to us.

Class Will

We, the dignified members of the Senior class of 1952, being confident that ours is by far the most intellectual, industrious, and valuable class ever to graduate in the history of our dear Alma Mater, and feeling that our sterling qualities are entirely too valuable to be wasted, modestly take our leave and do hereby draw up this, our last will and testament.

- I, Roy Anderson, will my ability to slip from class to watch television to Gerald Hassell.
I, Paul Beard, will my "duck wobble" to Cecil McCord.
I, Carl Daugherty, will my ability to make unnecessary noises to Alice Forehand.
I, Lesley Daugherty, will my bed-room eyes to Odessa Mangrum.
I, Wesley Daugherty, will my lady-like ways to all gentlemen.
I, Edison Givens, will my cowboy boots to Betty Jean Hall.
I, James King, will my extra pounds to Jerry Richardson.
I, George Lampley, will my curly hair to Betty Sue Pewitt.
I, Loyd Locke, would leave Wilma Jean to anybody, but I can't, I just have to take her with me.
I, Donley Mealer, leave my love for Rosalie Denton and Shirley Mangrum to them to fight over.
I, Elbert Moore, will my good looks to C. P. Moss.
I, Jim Norvell, will my slow-poke ways to Emmitt Mangrum.
I, Joe Parham, always being first in line to the cafeteria, leave my place to Lewis Davidson.
I, Henry Ryan, leave my quiet ways to Ewin Sullivan.
I, Orville Spears, will my Toni hair curlers to Mary Lou Pewitt.
I, Clyde Sullivan, leave my ability to look and act drunk to Martha Beard.
I, Barbara Bledsoe, leave the remains of my tomato crop to Rodger Tomlinson.
I, Doris Boone, leave my slim waist line to Ann Smith.
I, Nellie Daugherty, will my laughing eyes to Alberta Gordon.
I, Emma Jean Edwards, leave the care of the drink box to anyone who'll take the job.
I, Mary Ann Fox, bequeath my good nature and willingness to help all the school complainers and grouchers to Roy McGaw and Bobby Anderson.
I, Sue Givens, leave my modesty and sense of humor to Bennie Ruth Bledsoe.
I, Helen Graves, leave my back seat on bus No. 5 to Hubert Carter. He will have to find a substitute for me.
I, Elaine Harris, will my ball uniform, which is just her size, to Ann Mills.
I, Verilyn Johnson, being possessed of good looks, leave my habit of primping to Helen Anderson.
I, Edith Jones, will my wad of bubble gum on the study hall seat to June Boone.
I, Jneall Jones, leave my half of the 11th Air Borne to Virginia Davidson.
I, Alice Lankford, leave my pretty dimples and blonde hair to Glenna Brown.
I, Mary Elizabeth Lunn, will my good-naturedness to Yvonne Lampley.
I, Vera Nell Martin, will my long curly hair to Betty Jean Meacham.
I, Georgia Mai Overby, leave my ability to hold a man, and leave a threat to all flirtatious girls that they must "lay off Lee Smith."
I, Hazel Scott, leave my sweet disposition to Marie Scott.
I, Elise Stinson, leave my pretty teeth and black hair to Frances Mangrum.
To the Faculty we leave our very best wishes and appreciation for putting up with this superior class.
To the Junior Class we will our sympathy for being so unlucky as to directly follow our remarkable class. We know it will be hard and almost impossible for you to achieve even half of what we have.
To the Sophomores we will our congratulations for having graduated from the Freshman Class.
To the Freshman Class we will the advice that "children should be seen and not heard."

Class Prophecy

On this beautiful morning of 1965, Elbert Moore, captain of the Show Boat, sits in his office and wonders what has become of his classmates of H.H.S. He takes time out from his duties to see what all of them are doing. He has some of them with him on his Show Boat, and he hopes that as he makes this trip down the Mississippi to New Orleans that he will see many others. Aboard the Show Boat, Roy Anderson, a salesman for the Toni Home Permanent Company, is trying to make a sale to Orville Spears, a missionary, just back from South Africa.

As the Show Boat passed through Paducah, Kentucky, Edith Jones, the Metropolitan opera star, presented a wonderful show. Seated in the audience were Carl Daugherty, a well known bachelor, and Vera Nell Martin, an old maid, swooning with love in their hearts. Verilyn Johnson, being a very close friend of Edith Jones during school days, came down from Short Mountain with her 14 children long enough to enjoy the performance.

When the Show Boat passed through Cario, Illinois, Paul Beard entertained a large crowd with his banjo picking, while Jim Norvell refreshed the crowd with his luscious pop corn. Mary Elizabeth Lunn, a very gluttonous eater, became ill after eating too much pop corn and fell over board, but no one was very worried about her, because she had just broken the worlds record as being the fastest swimmer.

The following night, Miss Helen Graves, a strip-tease artist, presented a breath-taking show before the eyes of many spectators. She wore a beautiful two piece costume. Donley Mealer, a chief of the Police Force, carried her in a pie wagon to jail.

While going through Memphis, Doris Boone and Alice Lankford, famous ballet dancers, presented the hottest show of the year. Much to their surprise, George Lampley, the organ grinder, and his pet monkey, Josephus, were present. Lieutenant Jneall Jones got leave of absence from Fort Campbell, Kentucky, just to come to the performance. Georgia Mai Overbey, the Broadway designer, had planned to be present, but was in Hollywood designing a Catalina bathing suit to be modeled by Elise Stinson, who is trying to get into the movies through her friends Elaine Harris and Loyd Locke who are starring in the motion picture "To Old To Cut The Mustard."

When we were in Vicksburg, Mississippi, Clyde Sullivan, Lesley Daugherty, Emma Jean Edwards and Hazel Scott, widely known as "The Bee Bop Singers," put rhythm in our hearts with their Bee Bop tunes. We were honored with the presence of Wesley Daugherty, a great politician, who flew down from Washington on a rocket after he completed his campaign speech as a Democratic nominee for president of the "American Reducing Association."

All of us took time out in Baton Rouge, Louisiana, to view a beautiful parade in which Barbara Bledsoe was the outstanding majorette. Henry Ryan, a circus clown, attracted the attention of the crowd with his large red nose and his juggling tricks.

As the Show Boat neared its destination--New Orleans, anxiously awaiting its arrival was the prominent lawyer, Edison Givens.

Before the Show Boat docked, the chef, James King, served a delicious meal of sauer kraut and weiners to all aboard the Show Boat.

As we reached New Orleans, Mary Ann Fox, a talented tap dancer, presented our last floor show. Nellie Daugherty, the cigarette girl, sold Tampa Cigars and Lucky Strike Cigarettes, while Joe Parham, the bartender, served everyone their favorite drink.

The Captain of the Show Boat thinks this has been a very successful year and hopes that the following ones will be even more successful.
